What is Wellbeing?

A sense of wellbeing means feeling happy and healthy and satisfied with our lives. It means having a sense of purpose, living independently and feeling in control.

However, for many reasons, there may be times when we lose this positivity. Instead, we may feel isolated or lonely, over-burdened with life's challenges or have simply lost our zest for life.

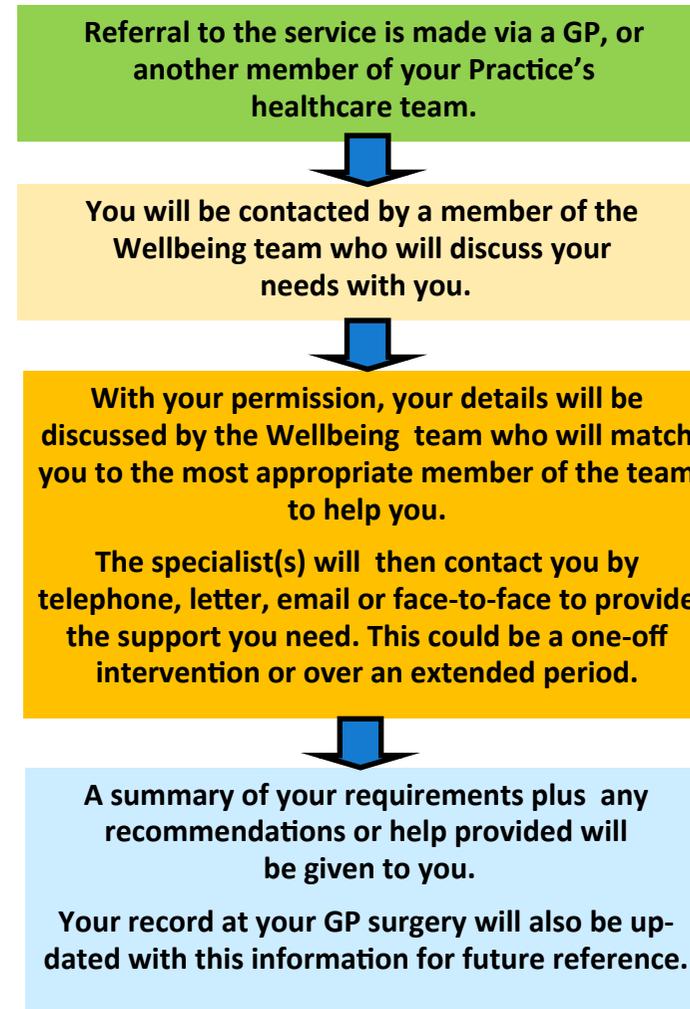

If this describes you, then this new service from the North and West Primary Care Network, may be able to help.

How can the Wellbeing Service help me?

There are a number of ways in which the Wellbeing Service may be able to help you:

- ☑ By supporting you to make the right, positive choices about your health and lifestyle.
- ☑ By guiding you towards activities and opportunities that are of interest to you in your neighbourhood. These could help you to feel more part of your community.
- ☑ By working with you to set and achieve personal goals that are right for you.
- ☑ By helping you to build your personal resilience and confidence levels and to become more independent in your home.
- ☑ By supporting you to manage long-term health conditions more effectively.
- ☑ By offering support to family members who care for you - or support to you if you are a carer of a family member.

How Can I Access the Wellbeing Service?

The Wellbeing Team comprises a number of different healthcare professions. For example, there is an Occupational Therapist, Health and Wellbeing Coach and Social Prescriber.

Who you will be referred to depends upon your situation and what matters to you.

Is the Wellbeing Service Right for Me?
